Privacy Policy

Here at Air Pressure Solutions we take personal privacy very seriously. As a general rule APS does not collect your personal information unless you chose to provide that information to us. When you choose to provide us with your personal information, you are giving APS your permission to use that information for the stated purposes listed in this privacy policy. If you choose not to provide us with that information, it might limit the features and services that you can use on this website. Generally, the information requested by APS will be used to provide a website feature or service to you, such as commenting, support, or providing future content better tailored to your interests. A description of APS's intended use of that information, how that information is collected, security measures APS takes to protect that information, and how to grant or revoke consent for collection and use of that information will be fully described the 'Privacy Notice' section of this privacy policy."

Some of the services on this website allow you to send us an email. We will use the information you provide, such as email address or phone number, only to respond to your inquiry. Keep in mind that email transmissions are not encrypted by default, so we suggest you do not send sensitive information such as, credit card numbers, or bank account information via such contact forms.
If such information is required, it will be via a web page that clearly states the page and its transmission of information is secure and encrypted. All electronic messages received from visitors are deleted when no longer needed.

Air Pressure Solutions takes the security of your personal information very seriously. We take many precautions to ensure that the information we collect is secure and inaccessible by anyone outside of our organization. These precautions include advanced access controls to limit access to that information to only internal personnel who require access to that information. We also use numerous security technologies to protect all data stored on our servers and related systems. Our security measures are regularly upgraded and tested to ensure they are effective.

We take the following specific steps to protect your information:

(1) Use internal access controls so only limited personnel have access to your information.

(2) Anyone with access to user information is trained on all relevant security and compliance policies.

(3) Servers that store visitor information are regularly backed up to protect against loss.

(4) All information is secured through modern security technologies like secure socket layer (SSL), encryption, firewalls, and secure passwords.

All access safeguards described above are in place to prevent unauthorized access by outsiders to information stored on or transmitted by our systems.
